STATE ORDERS MUHLENBERG'S SCHOOL CLOSED

Board To Discuss Deitrich Demand For Consolidation With Monroe

DISTRICT CHARTER TAKEN

Washington Given To June 30, 1940; Deercreek And New Holland Approved

The possibility of Muhlenberg township school joining with another district will be up for discussion at a meeting of the township school board set for Monday at 7:30 p. m.

This demand has been tossed before the board again this year as the result of the State High School board annulling the school's charter.

A letter to Cecil M. Reid, president of the board, from E. N. Deitrich, state director of education, states:

"At a recent meeting of the High School board the Muhlenberg school came up for discussion. It is the opinion of the Board that it is quite impossible to maintain a satisfactory school at Muhlenberg with the present enrollment. It has, therefore, annulled the charter, effective June 30, 1939. This means, of course, that all state aid and recognition will be withdrawn on that date.

"After reviewing all of the circumstances connected with the revocation, the Board recommends that you join with Monroe township. It is possible for the two communities to maintain a satisfactory high school. We urge that you forget local differences in the interest of maintaining a satisfactory school for your boys and girls."

Joining Muhlenberg township school district with another district has been a problem facing county school officials for many years. The school has an enrollment of only 120 pupils, including 88 in the grades and 32 in high school.

Washington Loses Charter

Another Pickaway county school facing the possibility of joining with another district in another year is Washington township. The board has annulled the Washington school charter effective June 30, 1940, giving the district one year to work out its problem.

"The board recommends that the Washington board of education study its problem carefully and submit to this department plans for the proper disposition of pupils at the end of the next school year," a letter to W. S. Dunkle, president of the board of education, explains.

The Monroe and Saltcreek township schools, operating this year under temporary charters that expire June 30, 1939, have been voted one-year charters dated July 1, 1939. "It may be that the conditions that made temporary chartering necessary are now rectified," a letter explains. "If so, the fact will be revealed by an inspection planned for next year. New charters for a longer term can then be issued."

The Deercreek and New Holland schools, also operating under temporary charters, have been issued five-year charters. Many improvements have been made in these schools since the last inspection.

Mrs. Oakley Warner Taken To Hospital; 30 Stitches Close Wounds

Mrs. Oakley Warner, W. Ohio street, was in Chillicothe hospital Monday suffering from severe cuts on the face received Saturday night when the car in which she was riding with her husband crashed into the rear of a coal truck on Route 23 just south of the Pickaway county line.

Mr. Warner said they were returning to Circleville from Chillicothe. The accident happened about 11:30 o'clock. About 30 stitches were required to close cuts on Mrs. Warner's face. Mr. Warner said the worst cut was over her left eye. No bones were broken. The injuries were caused by the windshield shattering.

Mr. Warner said the accident happened when he went to sleep.

LINDBERGH FLIES EAST AFTER TRIP TO DAYTON FIELD

DAYTON, April 24 — Col. Charles A. Lindbergh took off from Wright Field in his single-seater army pursuit plane at 8:45 a. m. today. As usual, the famous flyer's destination was unannounced, but he apparently headed eastward.

Colonel Lindbergh, only recently recalled to active army duty from abroad, visited Wright field, nerve-center of the army's air operations, as the first stop in his nationwide survey of the nation's aerial defense needs.

It was assumed that his destination today was Washington.

Lindbergh arrived at the army air base Saturday, flying alone from the national capital. Over the weekend he was the guest of Maj. Gen. George H. Brett and conferred with Wright field technicians and engineers.

SPECIAL AGENT SEEKS SOLUTION TO LABOR FIGHT

Dispute Enters Its Fourth Week With Industries Feeling Shortage

PENALTY POINT ARGUED

Lewis May Order National Mine Walkout Unless Operators Agree

NEW YORK, April 24—Mediation machinery of the federal government began moving today as Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins strove to end the suspension of work in the soft coal fields of the Appalachian area.

As the stoppage of work entered its fourth week and the coal shortage became more critical, Miss Perkins appointed John R. Steelman, head of the federal conciliation service, as a special government mediator to attempt to end the deadlock between the bituminous operators and the United Mine Workers of America.

Steelman left for New York City with instructions to call representatives of both sides into a conference with him. He had met informally with them last week and then returned to Washington to report to Miss Perkins, leaving his aide, James Francis Dewey, in New York to continue his role as unofficial observer.

Step Authorized

Miss Perkins' step was understood to have the approval of President Roosevelt. Under the law, she is authorized to appoint a special mediator or a board whenever she deems such a step necessary in the public interest.

The miners and operators were still deadlocked on the issue of strike penalties. The miners demand abolition of these penalties of $1 to $2 a man for each day of a strike and the operators refuse.

It is the contention of John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, that these penalties must be abolished to give the union a free hand to resist any attempt at unionization by the rival A. F. of L. The operators assert the strike penalty clause is their only means of disciplinary enforcement of the contract.

Soft coal supplies of municipalities, railroads, industry, public utilities and government buildings are rapidly approaching the exhaustion point. Lewis meanwhile has taken steps to put the cessation of work on a nationwide basis by ordering the 100,000 or more miners outside the Appalachian area to cease work May 4 if a contract is not signed by that date. The 320,000 miners in the Appalachian fields have been idle since April 1.

President Roosevelt has thus far declined to intervene in the controversy, preferring to remain aloof until all avenues of federal mediation and conciliation have been blocked.

HALLIBURTON, 14 CREW MEMBERS OCEAN VICTIMS?

HONOLULU, April 24—Passengers aboard the President Coolidge said today that ship's officers have expressed the belief the Chinese junk in which Richard Halliburton and a crew of 14 started a voyage from Hong Kong to San Francisco has sunk in the Pacific off Guam island.

Officers concluded the Tennessee author and adventurer and his crew were carried to their deaths, passengers said, following a search by the Coolidge of the area of the craft's last reported position.

Halliburton's combination diesel-sailboat, the Sea Dragon, on March 23 radioed it was between Guam and Wake islands, in the path of an approaching typhoon. Attempts by navy and commercial craft to communicate with the vessel have since proved futile.

Fire Turns Dance Into Tragedy; Teacher Killed

MT. VERNON, April 24—A fire which turned a gay night club scene into one of tragedy and suffering and claimed the life of a rural school teacher, became the object of an inquiry by the state fire marshal's office today.

State Fire Marshal Ray Gill sent John Staub, Newark, and W. B. Himes, Lancaster, to the Lake Cornell night club, four miles south of Mt. Vernon, where Miss Helen Colopy, 38, a Knox county school teacher for 16 years, lost her life and 30 persons were burned and injured.

Gill said that Assistant State Fire Marshal William Bucklew would join the investigators later today to assist in a probe of a report the blaze had an incendiary origin. Firemen estimated the loss at $10,000 to $15,000.

A pleasure-bent throng of 500 persons was dancing in the club early Sunday when the fire broke out and turned the frame structure into a scene of confusion.

Many with clothing on fire rushed from the building, but cooler-headed patrons extinguished the flames and had the injured sent to a hospital. Six remained in a hospital today, while 24 others were released.

Most seriously burned were John O'Leary, Jr., 19, of Lake Forrest, Ill., and Joseph Kinnard, Mt. Vernon.

Miss Colopy was identified by a compact which was found beside her charred body. She had apparently been trampled in the wild rush of guests to vacate the flaming structure.

It was opening night for the club following completion of reconstruction work. Students from Kenyon College at nearby Gambier made up part of the audience.

Orchestra Plays On

Guests jumped from windows and many were trampled at exits as the flames spread rapidly. An orchestra bravely continued to play for a few moments after the fire was discovered but was ordered out of the building by the manager.

Judge Terwilliger said there are 100 old cases on the docket that were filed prior to 1930. Attorneys were requested to check up on these cases and dispose of them either by dismissal or have them set down for trial. "I want to get these old cases cleared away," the judge said.

The bar will meet again next Monday at 1 p. m. for an assignment of pending cases and to report on their efforts in clearing away the old cases.

Four Drown As Lake Erie Boat Turns Over

HURON, O., April 24—Mrs. Clarence S. Miller was to leave a Sandusky hospital today, the lone survivor of a tragedy that took four deaths by drowning.

Mrs. Miller was rescued when a boat in which she, her husband, 31, their two children, Dale, 7, and Arline, 5, and her brother in law, Walter C. Miller, 20, all of Mansfield, filled with water and sank near the lighthouse pier at Huron.

Mrs. Miller was rescued by Phillip Cline, of Huron, who dove into the cold waters of Lake Erie to pull her ashore. He had taken Arline from the water before he rescued Mrs. Miller, but it was

GUILD CASHIER MISSING; $100,000 FUND GONE, TOO

NEW YORK, April 24—A widespread hunt was in progress today for Joseph Carbone, cashier for the Literary Guild, who vanished simultaneously with discovery of a shortage of $100,000 or more in the organization's funds, according to police.

An investigation of Carbone's private affairs disclosed he lived in handsome style on his $50 a week salary, police reported. He was the owner of a $38,000 home, a motor cruiser and three automobiles and a member of several exclusive clubs, police charged. He employed two servants to care for his wife and two children, according to police.

FARM ACTIVITY RENEWED WITH CLEAR WEATHER

Peas and Oats May Be Put In Ground This Week; Sweet Corn Due

Pickaway county farms are humming with activity after clear skies Sunday and Monday put up the "go" signal on farm work, delayed for many weeks by incessant rains.

High ground had dried out sufficiently Monday for farmers to resume their plowing. Lowlands were still too wet for plowing. Observers reported about 75 percent of the plowing in the county completed.

Weather conditions permitting, peas and oats will be planted this week. Farmers report the rainy weather made the planting of oats very late.

Some early sweet corn for marketing may be planted late this week. Corn planting for canning factories will start early in May.

Officials of the Lewis and Frisinger Co., contractors on the Route 22 improvement, west of Circleville, said they hoped to resume work Tuesday on fills. High water in the gravel pit on the old canal property prevented work on fills Monday.

Clear Weather Needed

Work was resumed Monday on ripparring around the bridges and construction of forms for the bridge floors. If clear skies prevail this week, work will be under way on both the construction of bridges and fills. Incessant rains had halted work on the project for three weeks.

The clear skies Sunday and a temperature of 78 degrees sent Circleville folk for drives through the rural districts. Highways throughout the county were jammed with traffic. No serious accidents were reported.

Rainfall for the month to date amounts to 5.13 inches as compared with a normal of three inches for the entire month.

CHAMBERS REAPPOINTED

Hunter Chambers, S. Scioto street, was reappointed Monday as county apary inspector by the commissioners.

Witnesses said that the Miller family had embarked on a fishing expedition in a light, homemade boat. The boat struck submerged piling and sank, stern first, when the bow was pushed up out of the water by the piling.

All but Mrs. Miller, who clung to the boat, sank immediately. The members of the party were heavily dressed and were unable to stay above water unaided.

Cline and others on the pier revived Mrs. Miller by artificial respiration before she was taken to the hospital.

Bodies of Clarence Miller, his brother and his son were recovered by volunteer workers.

FUEHRER STAYS IN BERLIN FOR VITAL CONFABS

Isolation Of Poland Sought By Hitler Against New Three-Power Pact

F. D.'S REPLY STUDIED

Finland Fears She May Be Victim Of British, Soviet Agreement

BERLIN, April 24—Open admission of Yugoslavia to the Italo-German anti-comintern pact became a possibility today as Germany entered a momentous week of diplomatic negotiations, and indications arose that attempts may be made to bring the Baltic states into the axis fold.

Chancellor Hitler decided to remain in Berlin to complete the speech in reply to President Roosevelt before the Reichstag Friday. While linking of Yugoslavia to the anti-comintern pact would be one direct slap at the democracies, the Fuehrer's address is expected to add to the blow with a score or more of negative answers to Hitler's questionnaire on "Do You Fear Germany?"

And if the French-British-Russian alliance goes into effect, it was believed, Germany might use it to bring the Baltic states into a line-up against Poland.

Henderson Returns

A first class sensation was created in Germany by the return of British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson. "He is like a spanked boy coming back with an apple to give the teacher as a peace offer," was one comment.

Nazi quarters were frankly jubilant, but diplomatic circles were suspicious. Some observers openly asserted: "It's another sell-out," referring to the Munich deal.

The general opinion is growing that Britain is ready to sacrifice Danzig and the Polish Corridor, or at least to persuade France to bring pressure on Warsaw for those concessions. In return, Britain would hope to gain tranquility in the Mediterranean.

Sir Neville is expected to see Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop tomorrow, when a decision will be reached as to whether diplomatic relations are to be completely restored by return of (Continued on Page Two)

PUBLISHERS SEE IMPROVEMENT IN U. S. CONDITIONS

NEW YORK, April 24 — A general feeling of optimism over business conditions was evidenced today by the nation's publishers gathering in New York for the annual meeting of the American Newspaper Publishing Association.

The principal topic of interest at the 53rd annual convention will be plans for promoting newspaper advertising in competition with other media, according to James G. Stahlman, president of the Nashville Banner and the A.N.P.A. Mixed opinions on President Roosevelt's administration were expressed by the visiting publishers who were occupied in the main by political and economic discussions among themselves before the convention sessions get under way formally tomorrow.

The publishers will be given a preview of the World's Fair tomorrow and will dedicate the Freedom of Press statue on the fairgrounds.

STATE ORDERS MUHLENBERG'S SCHOOL CLOSED

Board To Discuss Deitrich Demand For Consolidation With Monroe

DISTRICT CHARTER TAKEN

Washington Given To June 30, 1940; Deercreek And New Holland Approved

The possibility of Muhlenberg township school joining with another district will be up for discussion at a meeting of the township school board set for Monday at 7:30 p. m.

This demand has been tossed before the board again this year as the result of the State High School board annulling the school's charter.

A letter to Cecil M. Reid, president of the board, from E. N. Deitrich, state director of education, states:

"At a recent meeting of the High School board the Muhlenberg school came up for discussion. It is the opinion of the Board that it is quite impossible to maintain a satisfactory school at Muhlenberg with the present enrollment. It has, therefore, annulled the charter, effective June 30, 1939. This means, of course, that all state aid and recognition will be withdrawn on that date.

Joining Muhlenberg township school district with another district has been a problem facing county school officials for many years. The school has an enrollment of only 120 pupils, including 88 in the grades and 32 in high school.

Another Pickaway county school facing the possibility of joining with another district in another year is Washington township. The board has annulled the Washington school charter effective June 30, 1940, giving the district one year to work out its problem.

"The board recommends that the Washington board of education study its problem carefully and submit to this department plans for the proper disposition of pupils at the end of the next school year," a letter to W. S. Dunkle, president of the board of education, explains.

The Monroe and Saltcreek township schools, operating this year under temporary charters that expire June 30, 1939, have been voted one-year charters dated July 1, 1939. "It may be that the conditions that made temporary chartering necessary are now rectified," a letter explains. "If so, the fact will be revealed by an inspection planned for next year. New charters for a longer term can then be issued."

The Deercreek and New Holland schools, also operating under temporary charters, have been issued five year charters. Many improvements have been made in these schools since the last inspection.

Peas and Oats May Be Put In Ground This Week; Sweet Corn Due

Pickaway county farms are humming with activity after clear skies Sunday and Monday put up the "go" signal on farm work, delayed for many weeks by incessant rains.

High ground had dried out sufficiently Monday for farmers to resume their plowing. Lowlands were still too wet for plowing. Observers reported about 75 percent of the plowing in the county completed.

Weather conditions permitting, peas and oats will be planted this week. Farmers report the rainy weather made the planting of oats very late.

Some early sweet corn for marketing may be planted late this week. Corn planting for canning factories will start early in May.

Officials of the Lewis and Frisinger Co., contractors on the Route 22 improvement, west of Circleville, said they hoped to resume work Tuesday on fills. High water in the gravel pit on the old canal property prevented work on fills Monday.

Clear Weather Needed

Work was resumed Monday on rripping around the bridges and construction of forms for the bridge floors. If clear skies prevail this week, work will be under way on both the construction of bridges and fills. Incessant rains had halted work on the project for three weeks.

The clear skies Sunday and a temperature of 78 degrees sent Circleville folk for drives through the rural districts. Highways throughout the county were jammed with traffic. No serious accidents were reported.

Rainfall for the month to date amounts to 5.13 inches as compared with a normal of three inches for the entire month.

CHAMBERS REAPPOINTED

Hunter Chambers, S. Scioto street, was reappointed Monday as county apiary inspector by the commissioners.

FUEHRER STAYS IN BERLIN FOR VITAL CONFABS

Isolation Of Poland Sought By Hitler Against New Three-Power Pact

F. D.'S REPLY STUDIED

Finland Fears She May Be Victim Of British, Soviet Agreement

BERLIN, April 24—Open admission of Yugoslavia to the Italo-German anti-comintern pact became a possibility today as Germany entered a momentous week of diplomatic negotiations, and indications arose that attempts may be made to bring the Baltic states into the axis fold.

Chancellor Hitler decided to remain in Berlin to complete the speech in reply to President Roosevelt before the Reichstag Friday. While linking of Yugoslavia to the anti-comintern pact would be one direct slap at the democracies, the Fuehrer's address is expected to add to the blow with a score or more of negative answers to Hitler's questionnaire on "Do You Fear Germany?"

And if the French-British-Russian alliance goes into effect, it was believed, Germany might use it to bring the Baltic states into a line-up against Poland.

Henderson Returns

A first class sensation was created in Germany by the return of British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson. "He is like a spanked boy coming back with an apple to give the teacher as a peace offer," was one comment.

Nazi quarters were frankly jubilant, but diplomatic circles were suspicious. Some observers openly asserted: "It's another sell-out," referring to the Munich deal.

The general opinion is growing that Britain is ready to sacrifice Danzig and the Polish Corridor, or at least to persuade France to bring pressure on Warsaw for those concessions. In return, Britain would hope to gain tranquility in the Mediterranean.

Sir Neville is expected to see Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop tomorrow, when a decision will be reached as to whether diplomatic relations are to be completely restored by return of (Continued on Page Two)

PUBLISHERS SEE IMPROVEMENT IN U. S. CONDITIONS

NEW YORK, April 24 — A general feeling of optimism over business conditions was evidenced today by the nation's publishers gathering in New York for the annual meeting of the American Newspaper Publishing Association.

The principal topic of interest at the 53rd annual convention will be plans for promoting newspaper advertising in competition with other media, according to James G. Stahlman, president of the Nashville Banner and the A.N.P.A. Mixed opinions on President Roosevelt's administration were expressed by the visiting publishers who were occupied in the main by political and economic discussions among themselves before the convention sessions get under way formally tomorrow.

The publishers will be given a preview of the World's Fair tomorrow and will dedicate the Freedom of Press statue on the fairgrounds.

Finland Uneasy

German reports from Helsinki say that Finland is growing uneasy over the Anglo-Russian negotiations, with Finland fearing she "might be made the victim."

This foreshadows the possibility that the Anglo-Soviet alliance, if it materializes, will be utilized by the Reich to draw Finland, Latvia, and Estonia into the anti-comintern lineup. This alignment would be backed by a German military guarantee of these former Russian provinces against Russia.

In turn, Lithuania then would be brought under the same wing of the German eagle, thus practically isolating Poland.

Weight was given to this suggestion through the long conversations the Finnish army commander-in-chief has been holding in Berlin, where he has been staying since Hitler's birthday last week.

DNE, the official news agency, reported from Warsaw today that German Minority Leader Wiesner protested to Poland against allegedly wholesale suppression of German language newspapers. Wiesner pointed out, it was stated, that the Deutsche Nachrichten Posen was prohibited 23 times since March 10.

"WHISPERING BANDITS" HUNTED IN COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, April 24 — The search for Columbus "whispering bandits" who specializes in hotel robberies was intensified today following their visit to the Charnel Apartment Hotel which netted them $5.40. A week ago the two men robbed the Broad-Lincoln Hotel of $206. In each instance, they whispered their commands to the night clerk.

It is estimated that in the United States some building is purposely set on fire every two hours, despite drastic punishment for arson.

PROBATE COURT RULING DECIDES CARTER ESTATE

A ruling in favor of Frank Carter, Deercreek township, as administrator of the estate of his late wife, Lillie M. Carter, was announced Monday by Judge C. C. Young of Probate court in connection with exceptions taken to an inventory.

The judge's opinion explains the exceptions were taken to the inventory by the children, who contended that the inventory should have listed an undivided one-half interest in all the chattel property on the farm, the undivided one-half interest in all money on deposit or on certificate of deposit in banks in the name of Frank Carter individually, and an undivided one-half interest in a tract of real estate known as the Morgan farm, which was purchased by Mr. Carter after the death of his wife. The inventory listed Mrs. Carter's estate at $11,325.

The judge's ruling ordered some amendments on the inventory.

Polish Demands Danzig To Stand As Free City

LONDON, April 24—Poland has informed Germany that any attempt to change the status quo in Danzig would be resisted with all Poland's forces, a Daily Telegraph dispatch from Warsaw said it was understood today.

A firm statement by Warsaw that that effect is contemplated before Chancellor Hitler's speech Friday, the dispatch said.

Watchman, 19, Questioned About French Liner Fire

LE HAVRE, France, April 24—Alleged conflicts in his story today resulted in detention of Cesar Franck, 19, night watchman aboard the French liner Paris when she was destroyed by fire last Tuesday night, on a charge of premeditated arson.

Authorities explained, however, that the charge might be changed to one of negligence if Franck can clear up the contradictions in his account. The young man, who first said he made his rounds on the night of the fire, was unable to account for the 15 minutes following 10:10 p. m., it was said. Franck later turned in the alarm. He will be questioned for two days. The watchman, an Alsatian, would be liable to the death penalty if convicted of deliberate arson.

'HILL BILLY', 22, GOES TO DEATH AT BELLEFONTE

ROCKVIEW PENITENTIARY, Bellefonte, Pa., April 24—Submerging a last minute hysteria, Ernest M. Hippie, 22-year-old Sullivan county "hill billy" slayer, went calmly to his death in Pennsylvania's electric chair early today, a prayer on his lips.

A half hour before he died for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Jennie Porter, 70, Wheelersville recluse, Hippie became hysterical in his death house cell. He regained his composure, however, as he stepped into the strained silence of the execution chamber.

The youthful mountaineer, who made the mistake of boasting to fellow prisoners in the Western penitentiary how he tricked psychiatrists into believing him mentally unsound, entered the death chamber between four guards at 12:31 a. m. and was pronounced dead three minutes later.

TWO SUSPECTED BANDITS DENY FOUR STEPS IN LIMA CHARGES MAJOR REFORMS

LIMA, April 24—The two suspects in Northwestern Ohio's "hooded bandit" robberies entered formal pleas of not guilty when arraigned today in Allen county Common Pleas court on armed robbery charges.

Their bond was fixed at $15,000 each and as neither of the two men, Norman A. Wasland, 41, and Clark Decker, 25, both of Findlay, could raise that sum, they were remanded to the county jail to await action by the grand jury.

Except to mumble "not guilty" when called before the bar of justice neither man said anything while in the courtroom. They are charged specifically with the robbery Saturday of the Equity Dairy store in Lima. They were arrested when fleeing from the scene.

When newsmen remarked that the bond was unusually high detectives replied, "there is more to this than you boys realize."

Wasland was limping slightly from a leg injury received when the bandit's car crashed into the Ottawa river bridge while fleeing Saturday in a rain of police bullets.

HASTINGS GOES ON TRIAL FOR 'MOTOR' DEATH

NORWALK, O., April 24—Late arrival of Defense Attorney Ben Lindas, of Washington, D. C., today delayed for more than an hour opening of the trial of Harold Hastings, 35, of Sandusky, charged with the "motor car murder" of Carl Schlett, 29, Sandusky riding master.

Lindas was engaged as an additional defense attorney by Mrs. Walter Miller, of Washington, sister of Hastings.

Schlett's widow, Mrs. Coletta Schlett, 28, also charged with murder stated before Hastings' trial opened that she would testify, regardless of the advice of her attorney.

Several hours before the trial started, the courtroom, with augmented seating capacity, was filled to overflowing. Ninety percent of the spectators were women.

Hastings and Mrs. Schlett were indicted after Coroner J. D. Bradish and Prosecutor Rex Bracy contended that Schlett was killed by an automobile deliberately driven to the side of the road to strike him. Hastings, appearing confident of acquittal, said he would prove an alibi.

BOOM LAUNCHED FOR MONTANA'S LIBERAL SOLON

WASHINGTON, April 24—A mild 1940 boom for Senator Burton K. Wheeler, fighting liberal of Montana, fluttered to life in Washington today beneath the louder roar of third term talk and political maneuvers of other noted Democrats.

The Wheeler boom is significant, first, because it is being sponsored in the Northwest, and second, because the Montanan might prove acceptable to both New Dealers and Conservative Democrats in event of a 1940 deadlock.

Joseph Wolf, former Democratic national committeeman from Minnesota, fathered the Wheeler boom. He asserted the Northwest would support President Roosevelt for a third term but if the President retired, Senator Wheeler would be a favorite over all other Democrats.

Wolf, displaced before the 1938 campaign, has a highly successful record of supporting political winners. He was a "before Chicago" supporter of President Roosevelt, swung Minnesota delegates into the Roosevelt column in the Spring of 1939 and thereafter handled the campaigns that rolled up a Democratic victory in Minnesota in 1939 for the first time in its history with a repeat

EX-N. R. A. BOSS ASKS SCRUTINY OF TWO ENVOYS

WASHINGTON, April 24—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson — "old iron pants" when he served in the U.S. regular army, and former high official in the New Deal — today proposed careful scrutiny of America's two top ambassadors in Europe.

Referring to Joseph P. Kennedy and William C. Bullitt, U. S. envoys to Great Britain and France, respectively, Gen. Johnson told the senate foreign relations committee that "it would be a good idea to inquire what we have got at the Court of St. James now."

"The dowagers and the duchesses—not to mention the debs—are a potent pill," the wisecracking general observed. "And while we are about it, we might take a careful look at our other ambassador in Paris."

OIL FIRM LOSES $3,100 IN LOOT TO TWO BANDITS

PHILADELPHIA, April 24 — In a daring daylight holdup, two bandits, one disguised in the uniform of a company employee, today held up two clerks while they were sorting weekend receipts of the Standard Esso Oil company and escaped in an automobile with $3,100.

Brandishing pistols, the desperadoes ordered James Hughes, 32, and Robert Nelson, 25, to open the safe in the branch office in the Germantown section of Philadelphia.

As the bandits started to leave with their loot, a third clerk, William Marks, of Pennsauken, N. J., entered. The bandits locked all three clerks in a closet and fled in their car.

David Emmill, branch manager, told police that uniform-clad drivers "walk in and out of the office all day," making it a potential prey for disguised thieves.

"WHISPERING BANDITS" HUNTED IN COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, April 24 — The search for Columbus "whispering bandits" who specialize in hotel robberies was intensified today following their visit to the Charming Apartment Hotel which netted them $5.40. A week ago the two men robbed the Broad-Lincoln Hotel of $206. In each instance, they whispered their commands to the night clerk.

It is estimated that in the United States some building is purposely set on fire every two hours, despite drastic punishment for arson.

A ruling in favor of Frank Carter, Deercreek township, as administrator of the estate of his late wife, Lillie M. Carter, was announced Monday by Judge C. C. Young of Probate court in connection with exceptions taken to an inventory.

The judge's opinion explains the exceptions were taken to the inventory by the children, who contended that the inventory should have listed an undivided one-half interest in all the chattel property on the farm, the undivided one-half interest in all money on deposit or on certificate of deposit in banks in the name of Frank Carter individually, and an undivided one-half interest in a tract of real estate known as the Morgan farm, which was purchased by Mr. Carter after the death of his wife. ### Watchman, 19, Questioned About French Liner Fire

LE HAVRE, France, April 24—Alleged conflicts in his story today resulted in detention of Cesar Franck, 19, night watchman aboard the French liner Paris when she was destroyed by fire last Tuesday night, on a charge of premeditated arson.

Authorities explained, however, that the charge might be changed to one of negligence if Franck can clear up the contradictions in his account. The young man, who first said he made his rounds on the night of the fire, was unable to account for the 15 minutes following 10:10 p. m., it was said. Franck later turned in the alarm. He will be questioned for two days. The watchman, an Alsatian, would be liable to the death penalty if convicted of deliberate arson.

'HILL BILLY', 22, GOES TO DEATH AT BELLEFONTE

ROCKVIEW PENITENTIARY, Bellefonte, Pa., April 24—Submerging a last minute hysteria, Ernest M. Hipple, 22-year-old Sullivan county "hill billy" slayer, went calmly to his death in Pennsylvania's electric chair early today, a prayer on his lips.

A half hour before he died for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Jennie Porter, 70, Wheelersville recluse, Hipple became hysterical in his death house cell. He regained his composure, however, as he stepped into the strained silence of the execution chamber.

The youthful mountaineer, who made the mistake of boasting to fellow prisoners in the Western penitentiary how he tricked psychiatrists into believing him mentally unsound, entered the death chamber between four guards at 12:31 a. m. and was pronounced dead three minutes later.

TWO SUSPECTED BANDITS DENY FOUR STEPS IN LIMA CHARGES

LIMA, April 24—The two suspects in Northwestern Ohio's "hooded bandit" robberies entered formal pleas of not guilty when arraigned today in Allen county Common Pleas court on armed robbery charges.

Their bond was fixed at $15,000 each and as neither of the two men, Norman A. Waaland, 41, and Clark Decker, 25, both of Findlay, could raise that sum, they were remanded to the county jail to await action by the grand jury.

Except to mumble "not guilty" when called before the bar of justice neither man said anything while in the courtroom. They are charged specifically with the robbery Saturday of the Equity Dairy store in Lima. They were arrested when fleeing from the scene.

When newsmen remarked that the bond was unusually high despite the fact that the bandits were reprieved, "there is more to this than you boys realize."

Waaland was limping slightly from a leg injury received when the bandit's car crashed into the Ottawa river bridge while fleeing Saturday in a rain of police bullets.

HASTINGS GOES ON TRIAL FOR 'MOTOR' DEATH

NORWALK, O., April 24—Late arrival of Defense Attorney Ben Lindsas, of Washington, D. C., today delayed for more than an hour opening of the trial of Harold Hastings, 35, of Sandusky, charged with the "motor car murder" of Carl Schlett, 29, Sandusky riding master.

Lindsas was engaged as an additional defense attorney by Mrs. Walter Miller, of Washington, sister of Hastings.

Schlett's widow, Mrs. Coletta Schlett, 28, also charged with murder stated before Hastings' trial opened that she would testify, regardless of the advice of her attorney.

Several hours before the trial started, the courtroom, with augmented seating capacity, was filled to overflowing. Ninety percent of the spectators were women.

Hastings and Mrs. Schlett were indicted after Coroner J. D. Bradish and Prosecutor Rex Bracy contended that Schlett was killed by an automobile deliberately driven to the side of the road to strike him. Hastings, appearing confident of acquittal, said he would prove an alibi.

BOOM LAUNCHED FOR MONTANA'S LIBERAL SOLON

WASHINGTON, April 24—A mild 1940 boom for Senator Burton K. Wheeler, fighting liberal of Montana, fluttered to life in Washington today beneath the louder roar of third term talk and political maneuvers of other noted Democrats.

The Wheeler boom is significant, first, because it is being sponsored in the Northwest, and second, because the Montana might prove acceptable to both New Dealers and Conservative Democrats in event of a 1940 deadlock.

Joseph Wolf, former Democratic national committeeman from Minnesota, fathered the Wheeler boom. He asserted the Northwest would support President Roosevelt for a third term but if the President retired, Senator Wheeler would be a favorite over all other Democrats.

Wolf, displaced before the 1938 campaign, has a highly successful record of supporting political winners. He was a "before Chicago" supporter of President Roosevelt, swung Minnesota delegates into the Roosevelt column in the Spring of 1939 and thereafter handled the campaigns that rolled up a Democratic victory in Minnesota in 1939 for the first time in its history with a repeat

EX-N. R. A. BOSS ASKS SCRUTINY OF TWO ENVOYS

WASHINGTON, April 24—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson — "old iron pants" when he served in the U. S. regular army, and former high official in the New Deal — today proposed careful scrutiny of America's two top ambassadors in Europe.

Referring to Joseph P. Kennedy and William C. Bullitt, U. S. envoys to Great Britain and France, respectively, Gen. Johnson told the senate foreign relations committee that "it would be a good idea to inquire what we have got at the Court of St. James now."

"The dowagers and the duchesses—not to mention the dukes—are a potent pill," the wisecracking general observed. "And while we are about it, we might take a careful look at our other ambassador in Paris."

OIL FIRM LOSES $3,100 IN LOOT TO TWO BANDITS

PHILADELPHIA, April 24 — In a daring daylight holdup, two bandits, one disguised in the uniform of a company employee, today held up two clerks while they were sorting weekend receipts of the Standard Esso Oil company and escaped in an automobile with $3,100.

Brandishing pistols, the desperadoes ordered James Hughes, 32, and Robert Nelson, 25, to open the safe in the branch office in the Germantown section of Philadelphia.

As the bandits started to leave with their loot, a third clerk, William Marks, of Pennsauken, N. J., entered. The bandits locked all three clerks in a closet and fled in their car.

David Emmill, branch manager, told police that uniform-clad drivers "walk in and out of the office all day," making it a potential prey for disguised thieves.

FIRST QUARTER REPORT OF CAR SALE IS BRIGHT

748,935 Units Turned Out For Public During Three Months

EXCELLENT GAIN CITED

Retail Movement Nearly As Fast As Factory Production

NEW YORK, April 24—Motor vehicle retail sales throughout the United States totaled 748,935 units during the first quarter this year, according to the Automobile Manufacturers Association. A 63 percent gain in March over February served to pile up a lead of almost 40 percent for the quarter above the first three months of 1938, when the total was 536,668 passenger cars and trucks.

The March total of 329,467 units was about 45 percent ahead of March last year. Both passenger cars and trucks shared in the improvement.

The March total of 276,292 passenger cars was 67 percent ahead of the previous month and 47 percent better than the corresponding month last year. During the quarter, 622,785 passenger cars were sold at retail, reflecting a gain of 43 percent over the same period last year, when 435,021 cars were sold.

49 Percent Gain Noted

Commercial vehicles sold to consumers last month totaled 53,175 units, a gain of 49 percent over February and 34 percent over March a year ago. Commercial unit sales in the quarter totaling 120,150 were 24 percent above the 1938 quarter.

Retail sales of cars and trucks last month very nearly equaled sales by the factories to the domestic market. Compared with the retail sales figures already quoted, sales by the factories to dealers totaled 336,348 units, adding a margin of only 7,181 unsold units to stocks of unsold cars in retailers' hands.

Wear Exceeds Renewal Rate

Motor vehicle equipment is wearing out in serving the common needs of the public more rapidly than it is being renewed. This is evidenced by a continued increase in fuel consumption, coupled with an increasing proportion of older passenger cars and trucks among the total number of vehicles in use.

That this trend is world wide is indicated by the estimate that nearly 24 percent of all the motor vehicles in operation are nine years old or older, whereas nine years is about the average normal life of a car, according to the best informed computations. About 22 percent of the passenger cars in use in the United States have outlived their normal serviceability, according to this standard.

During the last ten years, motor vehicle registrations in this country have increased 19 percent, while motor fuel demand has increased almost 54 percent. As the trend of design has been on the side of improved efficiency at a given speed, this comparison indicates that generally speaking mileage has grown between two and three times as rapidly as has the number of units in service.

Motor fuel demand in this country has increased each year over the year before during all but two of the past twenty years. Last year an average of 60,000,000 gallons of motor fuel a day was required to keep the wheels of cars and trucks turning.

Use Declines With Age

Automobiles are driven much farther when new than after they have seen a period of service. Compared with the average of 8,850 for all motor vehicles, passenger cars up to one year old are driven approximately 13,000 miles a year.

In the second and third year of operation the average use drops off at the rate of 1,200 miles a year, thereafter decreasing more gradually. Cars built seven or eight years ago are driven on the average only half as far as those of current design.

Preliminary data obtained in state-wide highway planning surveys in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads affords new information on the declining use of older cars. This indicates that the few surviving fifteen-year-old cars may be driven no

Garden Pool, Much Other Information at Library

Two requests within a few days, recently sent library attendants on a search through the Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature, books, and pamphlets, on handicrafts and gardening, for information on building garden pools. A surprising lot of material was found available, but a new book, just received, "1001 ways to use concrete" promises to be a treasure house for pool-builders, home makers, farmers, hobbyists, and others in whom Springtime is rousing the creative urge.

Rare treats, in the way of fine pictures, and talks on color photography, by local adepts, have been given to the members of various organizations during the year. Photography is undoubtedly the outstanding "Hobby" of the day, and more and more amateurs are constantly taking up one, or more, of its various phases. The Circleville Library has just added one of the latest books on the art, "Color Photography for the Amateur," which, with a number of other recent books, added during the past year, rounds out the library collection of books on photography.

Summer is on the way, and parties are all the year round, so amateur and professional caterers should find in "Ice Cream Desserts for every occasion" some good additions for Pickaway County recipe files. There are 470 tested recipes for ice creams, coupes, bombes, frappes, ices, sherberts, and other frozen delicacies, in this book by L. P. De Gouy.

"Almost everyone, at some time or other, has considered more than 2,400 miles in the course of a year.

Anti-Diversion Movement

Constitutional amendments prohibiting diversion or misapplication of motor vehicle revenues will be voted on in the 1940 general elections of Idaho, Nevada and South Dakota. The movement against diversion of motor taxes has also gained ground in a number of other states, such as Wisconsin, where a resolution for such an amendment has passed the present legislature, but must also pass the next before it goes to popular vote.

FIRE DAMAGES FAIR BUILDING

$200,000 Lost As Flames Hit Glass Center Structure

NEW YORK, April 24—Emergency crews of carpenters, roofers and glaziers today were rushing repairs to the $1,000,000 glass center building at the World's Fair which was badly damaged by fire Sunday night.

Officials of the building which was jointly constructed and operated by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, the Owens-Illinois Glass company and the Corning Glass works, said it will be opened for exhibition on schedule.

Milton O'Connell, in charge of public relations for the glass exhibit and David French, general manager of the building, estimated the loss at $200,000 although it had at first been placed at a much higher figure by Edward T. M. Hanrhan, assistant manager of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company.

The blaze broke out near a furnace which had been kept at between 1500 and 2700 degrees (fahrenheit) preparing molten glass for glass-blowing demonstrations. The flames shot up the glass brick tower of the building and damaged expensive mirrors in the walls and ceiling.

Emergency orders for glass replacements were telephoned to Pittsburgh last night and the emergency crew of repair men hastily rounded up. The furnace will be kept going so that the exhibit can open on time. Two alarms brought 10 pieces of fire apparatus and Mayor F. H. LaGuardia speeding to the scene. Three firemen were slightly injured.

FIRST QUARTER REPORT OF CAR SALE IS BRIGHT

748,935 Units Turned Out For Public During Three Months

EXCELLENT GAIN CITED

Retail Movement Nearly As Fast As Factory Production

NEW YORK, April 24—Motor vehicle retail sales throughout the United States totaled 748,935 units during the first quarter this year, according to the Automobile Manufacturers Association. A 63 percent gain in March over February served to pile up a lead of almost 40 percent for the quarter above the first three months of 1938, when the total was 536,668 passenger cars and trucks.

The March total of 329,467 units was about 45 percent ahead of March last year. Both passenger cars and trucks shared in the improvement.

The March total of 276,292 passenger cars was 67 percent ahead of the previous month and 47 percent better than the corresponding month last year. During the quarter, 622,785 passenger cars were sold at retail, reflecting a gain of 43 percent over the same period last year, when 435,021 cars were sold.

49 Percent Gain Noted

Commercial vehicles sold to consumers last month totaled 53,175 units, a gain of 49 percent over February and 34 percent over March a year ago. Commercial unit sales in the quarter totaling 120,150 were 24 percent above the 1938 quarter.

Retail sales of cars and trucks last month very nearly equaled sales by the factories to the domestic market. Compared with the retail sales figures already quoted, sales by the factories to dealers totaled 336,348 units, adding a margin of only 7,181 unsold units to stocks of unsold cars in retailers' hands.

Wear Exceeds Renewal Rate

Motor vehicle equipment is wearing out in serving the common needs of the public more rapidly than it is being renewed. This is evidenced by a continued increase in fuel consumption, coupled with an increasing proportion of older passenger cars and trucks among the total number of vehicles in use.

That this trend is world wide is indicated by the estimate that nearly 24 percent of all the motor vehicles in operation are nine years old or older, whereas nine years is about the average normal life of a car, according to the best informed computations. About 22 percent of the passenger cars in use in the United States have outlived their normal serviceability, according to this standard.

During the last ten years, motor vehicle registrations in this country have increased 19 percent, while motor fuel demand has increased almost 54 percent. As the trend of design has been on the side of improved efficiency at a given speed, this comparison indicates that generally speaking mileage has grown between two and three times as rapidly as has the number of units in service.

Motor fuel demand in this country has increased each year over the year before during all but two of the past twenty years. Last year an average of 60,000,000 gallons of motor fuel a day was required to keep the wheels of cars and trucks turning.

Use Declines With Age

Automobiles are driven much farther when new than after they have seen a period of service. Compared with the average of 8,850 for all motor vehicles, passenger cars up to one year old are driven approximately 13,000 miles a year.

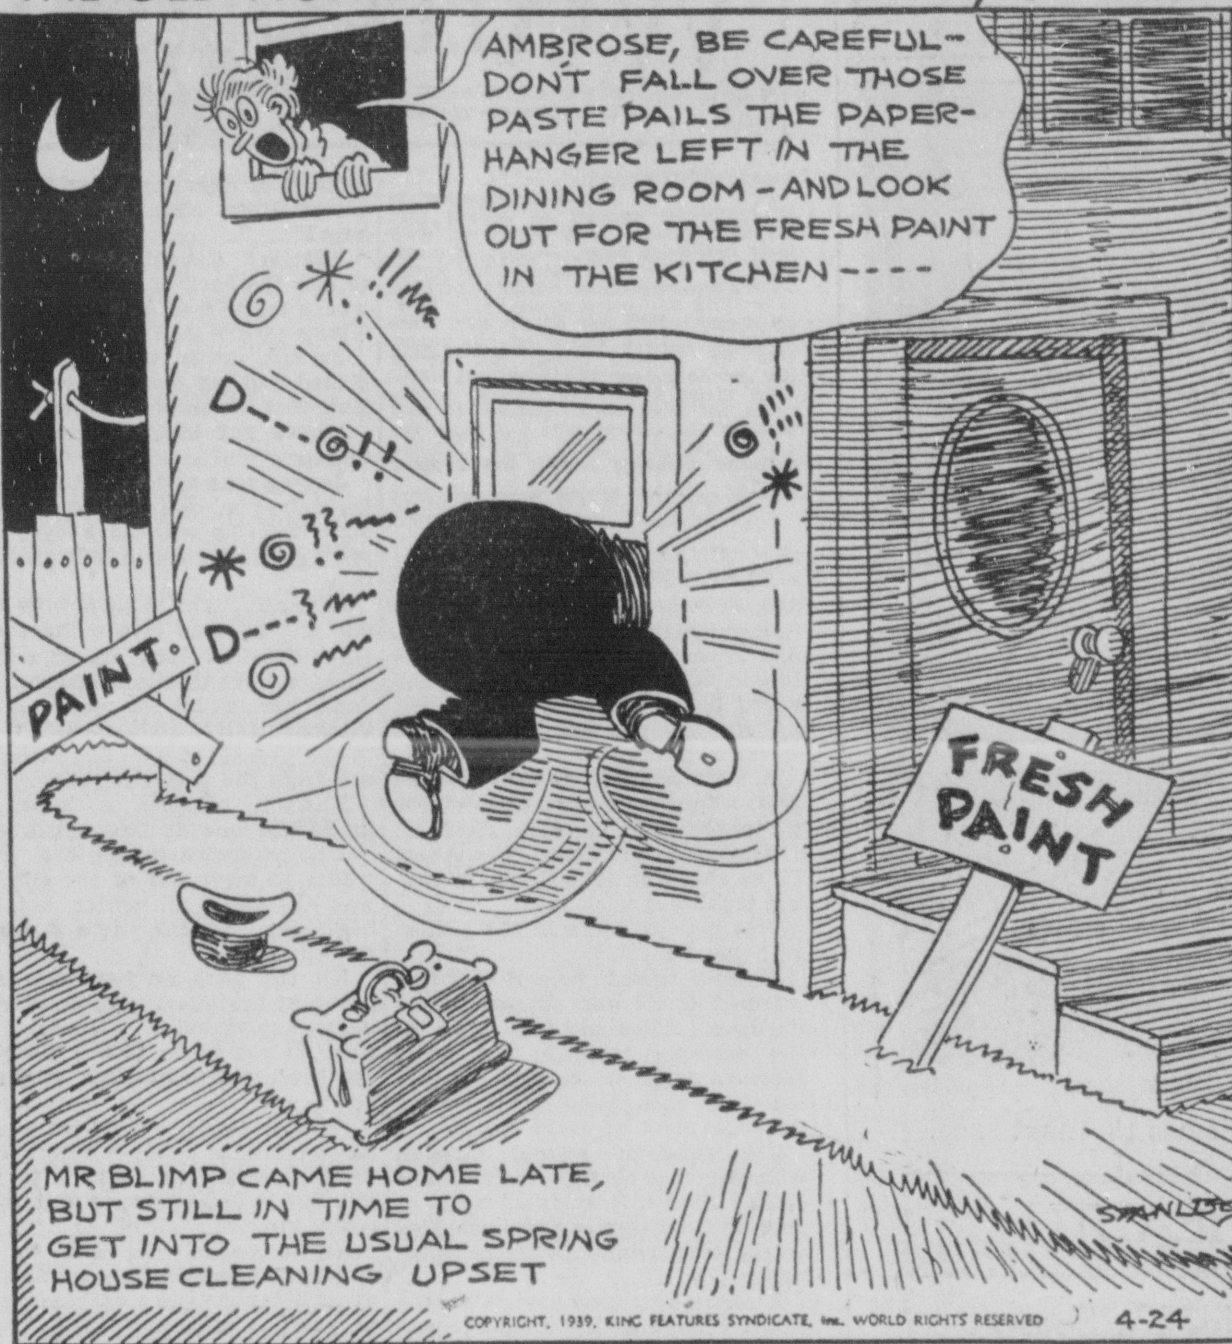

In the second and third year of operation the average use drops off at the rate of 1,200 miles a year, thereafter decreasing more gradually. Cars built seven or eight years ago are driven on the average only half as far as those of current design.

Preliminary data obtained in state-wide highway planning surveys in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads affords new information on the declining use of older cars. This indicates that the few surviving fifteen-year-old cars may be driven no

Garden Pool, Much Other Information at Library

Two requests within a few days, recently sent library attendants on a search through the Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature, books, and pamphlets, on handicrafts and gardening, for information on building garden pools. A surprising lot of material was found available, but a new book, just received, "1001 ways to use concrete" promises to be a treasure house for pool-builders, home makers, farmers, hobbyists, and others in whom Springtime is rousing the creative urge.

Rare treats, in the way of fine pictures, and talks on color photography, by local adepts, have been given to the members of various organizations during the year. Photography is undoubtedly the outstanding "Hobby" of the day, and more and more amateurs are constantly taking up one, or more, of its various phases. The Circleville library has just added one of the latest books on the art, "Color Photography for the Amateur," which, with a number of other recent books, added during the past year, rounds out the library collection of books on photography.

Summer is on the way, and parties are all the year round, so amateur and professional caterers should find in "Ice Cream Desserts for every occasion" some good additions for Pickaway County recipe files. There are 470 tested recipes for ice creams, coupes, bombes, frappes, ices, sherbets, and other frozen delicacies, in this book by L. P. De Gouy.

"Almost everyone, at some time or other, has considered more than 2,400 miles in the course of a year.

Anti-Diversion Movement

Constitutional amendments prohibiting diversion or misapplication of motor vehicle revenues will be voted on in the 1940 general elections of Idaho, Nevada and South Dakota. The movement against diversion of motor taxes has also gained ground in a number of other states, such as Wisconsin, where a resolution for such an amendment has passed the present legislature, but must also pass the next before it goes to popular vote.

FIRE DAMAGES FAIR BUILDING

$200,000 Lost As Flames Hit Glass Center Structure

NEW YORK, April 24—Emergency crews of carpenters, roofers and glaziers today were rushing repairs to the $1,000,000 glass center building at the World's Fair which was badly damaged by fire Sunday night.

Officials of the building which was jointly constructed and operated by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company, the Owens-Illinois Glass company and the Corning Glass works, said it will be opened for exhibition on schedule.

Milton O'Connell, in charge of public relations for the glass exhibit and David French, general manager of the building, estimated the loss at $200,000 although it had at first been placed at a much higher figure by Edward T. M. Hanrhan, assistant manager of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company.

The blaze broke out near a furnace which had been kept at between 1500 and 2700 degrees (fahrenheit) preparing molten glass for glass-blowing demonstrations. The flames shot up the glass brick tower of the building and damaged expensive mirrors in the walls and ceiling.

Emergency orders for glass replacements were telephoned to Pittsburgh last night and the emergency crew of repair men hastily rounded up. The furnace will be kept going so that the exhibit can open on time. Two alarms brought 10 pieces of fire apparatus and Mayor F. H. LaGuardia speeding to the scene. Three firemen were slightly injured.

CRUCIAL TIME

IT is somewhat reassuring to see Hitler's newspaper, the Voelkischer Beobachter of Berlin, ridiculing Britain and France for their apparent "panic mongering." Another Nazi spokesman announces that the Fuehrer is determined to do nothing in the next few months to provoke the western allies.

This might be natural caution on Hitler's part. He might stand by idly for a little while, at least, digesting his recent gains and letting his hungry partner Mussolini grab off another bit of property here and there.

Whatever the motive, "time is of the essence" for saving European civilization. Every month of delay in starting another Armageddon is so much to the good.

FIGHTING POISON

OUR South American neighbors have gone farther than we wish to go in pressing foreign propaganda within their borders. In Argentina, Brazil and Peru foreign language books, magazines and newspapers must have official permission to circulate. Foreign language instruction is prohibited, along with teaching of foreign political and racial doctrines. In Brazil all rural elementary school teachers must be of Brazilian birth. Foreign flags and emblems and portraits of foreign leaders may not be displayed, a rule which eliminates the swastikas and photographs of Hitler so common at Bund meetings in the United States.

These are chiefly negative controls, enforced by a type of suppression which we consider dangerous. We believe not only in free speech for its own sake, but as a safety valve for social and political emotions. The severe repressions in South America are understandable. We have much sympathy for them, but we see that they carry within them the seeds of possible trouble in the future.

One anti-Nazi movement there seems to us wholly constructive and valuable. Argentina is requiring in its schools emphasis on understanding the country's constitutional system and governmental operation. We need to do more of that up here. Greater familiarity with the Declaration of Independence, the Preamble to the Constitution and the Bill of Rights would be a fine antidote for all totalitarian poisons.

And now the German fleet has sailed out for its annual "naval games." Ain't governments got fun!

Mussolini announced the annexation of Albania "with virile joy", probably because its conquest was such a he-man job.

World At A Glance

So soon after Secretary of State Hull's recognition of General Franco's new Spanish government (assuming that Franco really has established a government in Spain and assuming also that it's the Franco's, such as it is) it will be a nuisance if that blows up, too. Nevertheless, Washington receives diplomatic hints that another rebellion threatens south of the Pyrenees—a rebellion against the rebels who won (or thought they did) only two or three weeks ago. In fact, they're not through celebrating their supposed victory yet. The State Department is beginning to surmise that they'd better hurry their celebration along or it may be somebody else's celebration. The Madrid republican government went floozy, to be sure. We were correct in recognizing that. But has it been succeeded by anything worth being recognized? That remains to be seen—perhaps speedily.

To understand the situation, let's take a look backward into comparatively recent Spanish history. . . .

START WITH ALFONSO

We'll start with King Alfonso's regime. It was so little to brag about that, a few years ago, a kind of military dictatorship came into power under General throne Alf, but it reduced him to a figurehead, like the king of Italy under Mussolini.

The dictatorship turned out to be a frost likewise, and the so-called republicans gained control, disposing of Alf and Primo, both. These alleged republicans (the birds who have just been abolished by Franco and the interests back of him) proved to be extreme radicals—communists, outright anarchists and assorted reds. Undoubtedly they were guilty of various scandalous excesses.

Finally the more rational Spanish element rebelled. The rebels weren't reactionary enough to suit the ultra-conservatives, but the latter joined them, having nowhere else to go.

General Franco took charge of the rebellion. The so-called republicans put up a two-and-a-half year fight, but they were split; all the moderates had left them. Thus divided, republicanism lost. Franco was on the job.

But the Franco-ites? Now they're splitting also. Franco's accused of being a mere stooge for Mussolini and Hitler—especially of Mussolini.

WANT THEIR LIBERTY

Well even ultra-conservative Spain never wanted to be an-

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,

JUSTICE STARS MAY LEAVE

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Frank Murphy may not know it, but he stands ready to lose four of his best aides. They are:

1. Brien McMahon, hard-hitting Assistant Attorney General in charge of criminal prosecution.

2. Thurman Arnold, Assistant Attorney General whose trust-busting has caused so much anguish to big business.

3. Gordon Dean, in charge of press relations and also one of the best lawyers in the Justice Department.

4. Solicitor General Bob Jackson, whose departure after this Supreme Court term already has been forecast in this column.

All of these are men who had helped make the Justice Department, rather belatedly, one of the strongest in the Administration. Their prospective departure is due to various causes, among them the fact that many things have bogged down under Murphy.

It is difficult to get decisions out of the chief. Cases pile up on the Attorney General's desk and don't move. He is out horseback riding or investigating judges. It is even difficult for his aides to see Murphy.

Word that Thurman Arnold may resign has been received with unmitigated joy by big business. His actual departure is not definite, and depends upon whether he gets continued support for his present program.

Brien McMahon and Gordon Dean will definitely retire and set up a law firm together. Bob Jackson will go back to his home in Jamestown, N. Y., unless Roosevelt has bigger things in store for him.

GERMANY VS. POLAND

Count Jerzy Potocki, vivacious Ambassador of Poland, gives some of the most charming dinner parties in Washington. All the appointments are in good taste, from wine glasses to finger bowls. Especially attractive are the Embassy dinner plates, decorated with the great eagle crest of the Polish Government.

Guests at a recent dinner were Dr. Hans Thomsen, charge d'affaires of the German Embassy, and Frau Thomsen; also the representative of Germany's axis partner, Giuseppe Cosmelli, counselor of the Italian Embassy, and Signora Cosmelli.

During the dinner, Frau Thomsen expressed admiration for the Embassy dinner plates bearing the crest of Poland.

"Never mind," smiled Signor Cosmelli of the Italian Embassy, "they'll be yours soon."

SOCIAL CALL

For a "social call," as it was announced, Mayor Ed Kelly of Chicago did a lot of political talking during his visit with the President.

Kelly told Roosevelt he was the Democrat's best bet in 1940, and that he should run again, anti-third term tradition or no. (Continued on Page Eight)

It's well to keep right on preparing for war in this country—but not expecting it.

Primo de Rivera. It didn't de-nexed, as something in the nature of an Italian dependency. The Spanish are a proud people. They resent the notion that Franco has sold them out to Il Duce, in order, possibly, to make him a local dictator of his own country—subject to Rome's orders.

Consequently nationalistic Spain seems to be flopping into an anti-totalitarian alignment—not radical, but violently opposed to Franco, and his supposed backers, Mussolini and Hitler.

First the middle group was in rebellion against what was considered communistic. Now it shows signs (extremely conspicuous signs) of hostility to Fascism or Nazi-ism, as supposedly represented by General Franco. Accordingly Franco's on the spot. He needs Italian troops to help him—and they're a liability in his home territory.

Maybe he can conquer Spain—with an Italian army and German aviators!

But he's a Spaniard. Can he popularize himself in this fashion? You wouldn't think so.

Anyhow, the State Department's dope is that he already is tottering.

The chances of his status make quite a difference, considering present world consideration.

DIET AND HEALTH

Treat Hay-Fever Prior To Season

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IT IS worth while reminding all spring hay-feverites that the last of April or beginning of May is about the right time for taking the pre-seasonal preventive treatment. Spring and fall types of hay-fever are quite similar so far as symptoms are concerned, but they are caused by different plant pollens in the air.

The spring type—early summer would be more accurate—starts some time in June. The gardens are all abloom with roses then, and it is perfectly natural that people should associate their sniffing and runny eyes with those beautiful visitors and call it "rose-fever" or

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

"rose-cold." All hay-feverites know that during "the season" they are made worse by a lot of things that do not bother them at all during other times. Eating a raw tomato or a canteloupe, for instance, will precipitate an exacerbation of sneezing fits. And smelling any flowers will do it.

Grass Pollen

So the rose-fever victim does get worse near roses, but his real trouble is the pollen from the humble and invisible flowers of the grasses. The grasses spread their fertilizing pollen by casting it upon the wind; it is light and fills the air, and, incidentally, the nostrils and eyes of the ka-choosers.

There are a few rare people who are sensitive to the pollen of the trees. This pollination is earlier in the spring, about April or May. One can make a pretty good guess at the cause of hay-fever by knowing the time of onset.

Fall hay-fever—which like its prototype could have a better name and be called late summer fever—comes on with a very grim regularity on the 15th or 20th of August. The countryside is then all a-wash with golden rod, and, as in the case of the rose, the golden rod once got the blame. Then Dr. Morrill Wyman, of Harvard, took some ragweed up into the heart of the White Mountains and gave everybody in one household an attack of hay-fever in a place where they thought they were immune.

Ragweed Cause

So we know that the cause of autumnal hay-fever is the ragweed, that totally useless troublemaker among plants.

The only successful way to prevent or help the sufferings of the hay-fever victim is the use of vaccines or solutions of the pollens made from the pollens of the grasses or of ragweed. These are given at first in very weak, then in increasingly strong doses by a hypodermic syringe under the skin. They are not valuable unless given directly into the blood stream.

The vaccines should be started some weeks before the expected onset of the attack. In some instances they may be started when the attack begins, but this is not so likely to be successful. And in very resistant cases it has been found that treatment must be carried out through the whole year.

As to the success of the vaccines, it should be said frankly that it is not universal. Complete freedom from symptoms is really rare. But for everyone it is worth a try, and this is the time of year to begin.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

DON'T UNDER-RATE THEM

YOU CAN GET some pretty hard wallops from under-rating your opponents. Doubling them as a matter of habit is just as expensive as making a practice of bidding too much yourself. If they redouble and cash an overtrick or two, they amass hundreds of extra points beyond those which were really dealt to them. It is profitable to be especially wary about doubling when their bidding has indicated extreme suitability, which may result in the killing off of your own side's high cards.

East had plenty in reserve here when he opened this deal with 1-Spade. Just a little more high card strength would have given him a two bid with that distribution. It passed around to North, who doubled. East decided that, with his distribution, it was better not to pass but show his second suit at 2-Diamonds. South now made a free overcall of 3-Clubs, making his partner see considerable strength in his hand. West cut in with 3-Hearts. North bid 4-Clubs, which passed to West, and the latter came to life with 4-Spades. North doubled, and East, who had not begun to show his real power cheerfully redoubled.

South thought this situation demanded radical treatment, and that his partner wanted a lead of dummy's suit. So the heart K was put under the hammer, two high spades dropped the Q, the heart Q was taken and a spade led to the J for a run of the hearts, discarding all of declarer's diamonds. Thus seven were made, for three overtricks worth 200 points apiece. All told, the declarer gained hundreds of points from the double, his own redouble and the heart lead.

Phil has a talk with Kate Douglas, society editor of his paper, who let Eleanor assist her for a few weeks before the baby was born. CHAPTER FIFTEEN
ELEANOR CLOSED her eyes and breathed deeply of the perfumed water that surrounded her. She lowered herself deeper in the tub in Kit Cranston's mauve and silver bathroom and gave herself up to the physical pleasure of warm water.

A maid knocked at the door and said: "Your breakfast tray will be up in ten minutes, Mrs. Parrish." Eleanor said: "Thank you, Anna. I'll be ready. Is Mrs. Cranston having breakfast with me?"

"No, ma'am. She's in the garden with the baby."

Eleanor dried herself with a warmed towel and slipped into a negligee. Then she sat down at the dressing table in the guest room of Kit's house and brushed her hair thoughtfully, prolonging the enjoyment of every moment.

The sunshine poured through wide windows curtained with white ruffled dimity. It splashed pools of gold on the beige rug and sparkled on the mirrors and gleaming furniture.

Eleanor arranged herself on the chaise longue as the maid came in with a tray. She lifted the covers and sniffed the delicious aroma of bacon curls and toasted rolls. She ate hungrily and opened the folded newspaper. But her eyes drifted to the view from the window and touched on the wide, blue sky, the fresh green of May's budding trees, the early flowers in the garden.

Kit's laughing voice drifted up to her and, with an attuned ear, she thought she heard her baby's voice.

Suddenly she was impatient with her own laziness. She was lonely for the baby that she had not seen since she tucked her away the night before in the empty nursery.

She dressed quickly without thinking, for the first time since she had come to Kit's house a week before, of the shabbiness of her last year's knitted sports suit.

Kit was dangling a discolored teddy bear over the side of the baby pen where Jessica, rounder than she had been when Kit had brought them up to her place a week before, made a valiant effort to stand up.

Eleanor stood beside the pen. She said: "Am I being merely a fond mother or does my daughter look better than when she came up here?"

"Better!" Kit said, leaning down to kiss the back of the baby's neck where tendrils of corn silk curled.

"She's turned into a beauty," Jessica, with wide dark eyes picked out of her father's face, looked at her mother solemnly.

"She's not bad," Eleanor murmured.

Jessica was turning into a beauty, a fragile, doll-like creature at eight months with dark eyes and pale, gold hair and a solemn little face.

Kit said, "I'm in love with her. Joe and I would love to have you stay here as long as you can, Eleanor. We think the country has done her a lot of good. . . . Whoops! Little girls shouldn't try to eat grasshoppers." She removed one from the active fingers.

Eleanor laughed a little. "I guess I'm one of those girls who has to be shown things, Kit. Phil wants to move out of the city. I was against it all winter, but I'm beginning to think there is something in it."

Kit sat back on her heels and gazed at her guest with an incredulous expression. "Eleanor Parrish, do you mean to tell me that you preferred to live in that walk-up?"

Eleanor nodded. "It's been a hold on city life, in a way. Also, I had been expecting to go back to my job, but it looks now as if it were very out."

Kit allowed her curls to be clutched in small fingers and looked up at Eleanor from a rather unusual position saying, "Job? There isn't any better job than this one. I was just cut out to be a mother or a nurse maid. I simply can't see any other point of view. What would you want a job for?"

"For all of us. I don't want Jessica to grow up without advantages. Also, I'd like a few for myself. I'd like a home like this and a good school for her and . . . oh, well."

"You and Phil both are young, Phil will get somewhere, some day."

Eleanor looked away silently. Once she would have said: "Yes, Phil is writing a novel that I think will be important."

"Joe says that things are not going so well at the paper since Stevens came in. He says that they've laid off a lot of people. Perhaps Phil will go to another paper."

Eleanor looked at her sharply. "Why should he?" she asked quickly.

"No reason at all, except that I know Phil is a good newspaperman and there are so few opportunities on the Globe."

"Kit, we're going back today."

Europe, too, must be having a wet Spring. At least most of the statesmen over there act as though they have a bad cold in the head and can't think.

When I make up my mind to do something, I always am anxious to get it done. I've decided to tell Phil that we're going to take a place out of New York. And I want him to see how well the baby looks."

"We hate to have you go, but I know how you feel. I'll drive you in this afternoon. Does it matter if we don't get in too early?"

"I'd like to get back in time to get dinner for Phil. Poor angel! He's thin as a rail and I want him to have lots of fresh vegetables. I'll take some back from here and get two small broilers on the way."

"You'd better ring him before you start in," Kit said sagely, as Eleanor went back to the house. "I'm a girl who doesn't believe in starting a husband."

"Good idea," Eleanor returned. "I'll call him right now."

Mr. Parrish was not in, the operator at the paper told her. Then Mrs. Parrish would leave a message: "We would be at home that day and was expecting Mr. Parrish for dinner as soon as he could get there."

At eight o'clock that evening Eleanor rang the paper again from her apartment and asked if Mr. Parrish had received her message. The operator "thought" he had.

Phil came in after ten. He had been drinking. Eleanor didn't know whether she knew it because she could smell alcohol or whether it was because his face looked so strained and his eyes so despairing.

She said: "I'm a bad wife to go away and stay so long, but you'll be glad to know, Phil, that it has made a new baby of Jessica and taught me a lesson."

"Has it really?" he asked, his smile a merciless gash in his face. "It has," she said, serving him the remnants of the long prepared dinner. "Darling, tomorrow we are going to begin looking for a place out of New York. Ever since I decided, I've been full of plans. I'm going to do . . ."

Phil had got up. He opened his mouth to speak. Then he closed it and went to stare out of the dusty window.

Her voice was very still. "What's the matter, Phil?"

"He turned around and his face was bitter. He said: 'It looks as though we'd stay here for the rest of our lives. When Jessica gets older, Nell, you can find a job and make a better life for yourself than I've been able to make for you. I . . . my salary's been cut fifteen bucks a week and I'm demoted to the lobster shift. Your husband, madame, now works nights, for a pittance.'"

"Oh, darling!" she said, gathering him into her arms as she would have Jessica. "We'll manage on it."

CRUCIAL TIME

IT is somewhat reassuring to see Hitler's newspaper, the Voelkischer Beobachter of Berlin, ridiculing Britain and France for their apparent "panic mongering." Another Nazi spokesman announces that the Fuehrer is determined to do nothing in the next few months to provoke the western allies.

This might be natural caution on Hitler's part. He might stand by idly for a little while, at least, digesting his recent gains and letting his hungry partner Mussolini grab off another bit of property here and there.

Whatever the motive, "time is of the essence" for saving European civilization. Every month of delay in starting another Armageddon is so much to the good.

FIGHTING POISON

OUR South American neighbors have gone farther than we wish to go in pressing foreign propaganda within their borders. In Argentina, Brazil and Peru foreign language books, magazines and newspapers must have official permission to circulate. Foreign language instruction is prohibited, along with teaching of foreign political and racial doctrines. In Brazil all rural elementary school teachers must be of Brazilian birth. Foreign flags and emblems and portraits of foreign leaders may not be displayed, a rule which eliminates the swastikas and photographs of Hitler so common at Bund meetings in the United States.

These are chiefly negative controls, enforced by a type of suppression which we consider dangerous. We believe not only in free speech for its own sake, but as a safety valve for social and political emotions. The severe repressions in South America are understandable. We have much sympathy for them, but we see that they carry within them the seeds of possible trouble in the future.

One anti-Nazi movement there seems to us wholly constructive and valuable. Argentina is requiring in its schools emphasis on understanding the country's constitutional system and governmental operation. We need to do more of that up here. Greater familiarity with the Declaration of Independence, the Preamble to the Constitution and the Bill of Rights would be a fine antidote for all totalitarian poisons.

And now the German fleet has sailed out for its annual "naval games." Ain't governments got fun!

Mussolini announced the annexation of Albania "with virile joy", probably because its conquest was such a he-man job.

World At A Glance

So soon after Secretary of State Hull's recognition of General Franco's new Spanish government (assuming that Franco really has established a government in Spain and assuming also that it's Franco's, such as it is) it will be a nuisance if that blows up, too. Nevertheless, Washington receives diplomatic hints that another rebellion threatens south of the Pyrenees—a rebellion against the rebels who won (or thought they did) only two or three weeks ago. In fact, they're not through celebrating their supposed victory yet. The State Department is beginning to surmise that they'd better hurry their celebration along or it may be somebody else's celebration. The Madrid republican government went floozy, to be sure. We were correct in recognizing that. But has it been succeeded by anything worth being recognized? That remains to be seen—perhaps speedily.

To understand the situation, let's take a look backward into comparatively recent Spanish history.

START WITH ALFONSO

We'll start with King Alfonso's regime. It was so little to brag about that, a few years ago, a kind of military dictatorship came into power under General throne Alf, but it reduced him to a figurehead, like the king of Italy under Mussolini.

The dictatorship turned out to be a frost like, and the so-called republicans gained control, disposing of Alf and Primo, both. These alleged republicans (the birds who have just been abolished by Franco and the interests back of him) proved to be extreme radicals—communists, outright anarchists and assorted reds. Undoubtedly they were guilty of various scandalous excesses.

Finally the more rational Spanish element rebelled. The rebels weren't reactionary enough to suit the ultra-conservatives, but the latter joined them, having nowhere else to go.

General Franco took charge of the rebellion.

The so-called republicans put up a two-and-a-half year fight, but they were split; all the moderates had left them. Thus divided, republicanism lost. Franco was on the job.

But the Franco-ites? Now they're splitting also.

Franco's accused of being a mere stooge for Mussolini and Hitler—especially of Mussolini.

JUSTICE STARS MAY LEAVE

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Frank Murphy may not know it, but he stands ready to lose four of his best aides. They are:

1. Brien McMahon, hard-hitting Assistant Attorney General in charge of criminal prosecution.

2. Thurman Arnold, Assistant Attorney General whose trust-busting has caused so much anguish in big business.

3. Gordon Dean, in charge of press relations and also one of the best lawyers in the Justice Department.

4. Solicitor General Bob Jackson, whose departure after this Supreme Court term already has been forecast in this column.

All of these are men who had helped make the Justice Department, rather belatedly, one of the strongest in the Administration. Their prospective departure is due to various causes, among them the fact that many things have bogged down under Murphy.

It is difficult to get decisions out of the chief. Cases pile up on the Attorney General's desk and don't move. He is out horseback riding or investigating judges. It is even difficult for his aides to see Murphy.

Word that Thurman Arnold may resign has been received with unmitigated joy by big business. His actual departure is not definite, and depends upon whether he gets continued support for his present program.

Brien McMahon and Gordon Dean will definitely retire and set up a law firm together. Bob Jackson will go back to his home in Jamestown, N. Y., unless Roosevelt has bigger things in store for him.

GERMANY VS. POLAND

Count Jerzy Potocki, vivacious Ambassador of Poland, gives some of the most charming dinner parties in Washington. All the appointments are in good taste, from wine glasses to finger bowls. Especially attractive are the Embassy dinner plates, decorated with the great eagle crest of the Polish Government.

Guests at a recent dinner were Dr. Hans Thomsen, charge d'affaires of the German Embassy, and Frau Thomsen; also the representative of Germany's axis partner, Giuseppe Cosmelli, counselor of the Italian Embassy, and Signora Cosmelli.

During the dinner, Frau Thomsen expressed admiration for the Embassy dinner plates bearing the crest of Poland.

"Never mind," smiled Signor Cosmelli of the Italian Embassy, "they'll be yours soon."

Treat Hay-Fever Prior To Season

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IT IS worth while reminding all spring hay-feverites that the last of April or beginning of May is about the right time for taking the pre-seasonal preventive treatment. Spring and fall types of hay-fever are quite similar so far as symptoms are concerned, but they are caused by different plant pollens in the air.

The spring type—early summer—would be more accurate—starts some time in June. The gardens are all abloom with roses then, and it is perfectly natural that people should associate their sniffing and runny eyes with those beautiful visitors and call it "rose-fever" or

Dr. Clendingen will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

"Rose-cold." All hay-feverites know that during "the season" they are made worse by a lot of things that do not bother them at all during other times. Eating a raw tomato or a cantaloupe, for instance, will precipitate an exacerbation of sneezing fits. And smelling any flowers will do it.

Grass Pollen

So the rose-fever victim does get worse near roses, but his real trouble is the pollen from the humble and invisible flowers of the grasses. The grasses spread their fertilizing pollen by casting it upon the wind; it is light and fills the air, and, incidentally, the nostrils and eyes of the ka-choosers.

There are a few rare people who are sensitive to the pollen of the trees. This pollination is earlier in the spring, about April or May. One can make a pretty good guess at the cause of hay-fever by knowing the time of onset.

Fall hay-fever—which like its prototype could have a better name and be called late summer fever—

comes on with a very grim regularity on the 15th or 20th of August. The countryside is then all a-wash with golden rod, and, as in the case of the rose, the golden rod once got the blame. Then Dr. Morrill Wyman, of Harvard, took some ragweed up into the heart of the White Mountains and gave everybody in one household an attack of hay-fever in a place where they thought they were immune.

Ragweed Cause

So we know that the cause of autumnal hay-fever is the ragweed, that totally useless troublemaker among plants.

DON'T UNDER-RATE THEM

YOU CAN GET some pretty hard wallops from under-rating your opponents. Doubling them as a matter of habit is just as expensive as making a practice of bidding too much yourself. If they redouble and cash an overtrick or two, they amass hundreds of extra points beyond those which were really dealt to them. It is profitable to be especially wary about doubling when your bidding has indicated extreme suitability, which may result in the hand length of your own side's high cards.

It passed around to North, who doubled. East decided that, with his distribution, it was better not to pass but show his second suit at 2-Diamonds. South thought this situation demanded radical treatment, and that his partner wanted a lead of dummy's suit. So the heart K was put under the hammer, two high spades dropped the Q, the heart Q was taken and a spade led to the J for a run of the hearts, discarding all of declarer's diamonds. Thus seven were made, for three overtricks worth 200 points apiece. All told, the declarer gained hundreds of points from the double, his own redouble and the heart lead.

Phil Parrish, New York reporter, is old-fashioned enough to believe that his wife's place is in the home, with their new-born baby, Jessica. Eleanor, who met Phil on a small-town newspaper, has aspirations to do some kind of writing and supplement Phil's modest salary. Phil has a talk with Kate Douglas, society editor of his paper, who let Eleanor assist her for a few weeks before the baby was born. Kate stops in at the Parrish apartment in Greenwich Village to tell Eleanor she cannot take her back, for a few months at least. Phil proposes a house on Long Island, but Eleanor objects.

"You'd better ring him before you start in," Kit said sagely, as Eleanor went back to the house. "I'm a girl who doesn't believe in starting a husband."

"Good idea," Eleanor returned. "I'll call him right now."

Mr. Parrish was in the operator at the paper told her. Then Mrs. Parrish would leave a message: She would be at home that day and was expecting Mr. Parrish for dinner as soon as he could get there.

At eight o'clock that evening Eleanor rang the paper again from her apartment and asked if Mr. Parrish had received her message. The operator "thought" he had.

Phil came in after ten. He had been drinking. Eleanor didn't know whether she knew it because she could smell alcohol or whether it was because his face looked so strained and his eyes so despairing.

She said: "I'm a bad wife to go away and stay so long, but you'll be glad to know, Phil, that it has made a new baby of Jessica and taught me a lesson."

"Has it really?" he asked, his smile a merciless gash in his face.

"It has," she said, serving him the remnants of the long prepared dinner. "Darling, tomorrow we are going to begin looking for a place out of New York. Ever since I decided, I've been full of plans. I'm going to do . . ."

Phil had got up. He opened his mouth to speak. Then he closed it and went to stare out of the dusty window.

Her voice was very still. "What's the matter, Phil?"

He turned around and his face was bitter. He said: "It looks as though we'd stay here for the rest of our lives. When Jessica gets older, Nell, you can find a job and make a better life for yourself than I've been able to make for you. I . . . my salary's been cut fifteen bucks a week and I'm demoted to the lobster shift. Your husband, madame, now works nights, for a pittance."

"Oh, darling!" she said, gathering him into her arms as she would have Jessica. "We'll manage on it."

The Atlanta P. T. A. met in regular session at the high school auditorium Thursday evening, for the final meeting of this year. An unusually large and enthusiastic crowd attended the meeting which was in charge of the president, Mrs. Anna Skinner. The following program was presented:

Orchestral numbers by Paul Rose and his Williamsport School Orchestra.

The Lord's Prayer by the audience, after which a short business meeting was conducted; during this session, a motion was made and seconded, that the P. T. A. sponsor the Boy Scout movement in Atlanta and community.

The nominating committee, with Mrs. Paul Peck as chairman, reported the renomination of the same corps of P. T. A. officials to head the organization for the coming year. The report is as follows: President, Mrs. Anna Skinner; Vice President, Mrs. Daisy Stinson; Secretary, Miss Phyllis Ater; Treasurer, Mrs. Marie McGhee.

Several more musical selections were played by Mrs. Rose's competent orchestra, as a finale to the program, and the meeting was adjourned. This was followed by the serving of refreshments, and the remainder of the evening was spent in round and square dancing.

GARDEN-GRAPH

Roses really should be as careful about their diet as a debutante about her vitamins. Since it is the gardener's duty to see that the roses receive a well-balanced food, one should know just what diet will make for a profusion of beautiful rose blooms. Nitrogen is essential for the growth of foliage; phosphoric acid produces blooms; and potash produces wood for the rose stalks.

As shown in the Garden-Graph, apply fertilizer to roses often, but in small doses. A teaspoonful each week, or tablespoonful every two weeks, is a safe method of feeding rose bushes.

Make a saucer-like depression around each plant, or mound the earth up slightly to form a saucer, keeping the outer rim about three inches away from the main stalk of the bush. Fill the depression with water, then scatter the food on the surface of the water and let it soak into the ground. Follow this "meal" with several more applications of water.

Detroit's Schoolboy Whips Cleveland; Yankees, Reds Gain Margins

By Lawton Carver
NEW YORK, April 24—Right down to the large toes of his 6 foot, 4½ inch frame, Schoolboy Rowe tangles today with the jubilation of a man who, after long and gloomy waiting, gets a last minute reprieve to beat the chair.

To all intents and purposes his baseball life came to the beginning of the end when his right arm quit on him two years ago. After that it seemingly was just a matter of his lingering around the bush leagues until finally he was overtaken by the inevitable.

After that, the farm and memories of only three big years with the Detroit Tigers, when there should have been 10 more.

That's the way the script began to run in 1937, when he won only one game for the Tigers, and it still was following that pattern last year until he began a comeback with Beaumont in the Texas league. There he was virtually unbeatable, and his comeback has reached the point now where he may be a powerful factor in the Tigers' pennant hopes.

Indians Defeated
They saw flashes of the old schoolboy of 1934, 1935 and 1936 yesterday. In those years he turned in 24 victories, then 19 and 19 more, hurling the Tigers into the World Series in '34 and '35. In a clash yesterday with the Cleveland Indians he won his game by 8 to 0, allowing four hits, and walking only one. The victory approached the pitching masterpieces of the year and probably indicated that the favored New York Yankees are going to get their contention from the Tigers, as some predicted, after all, instead of from the Boston Red Sox.

Meantime, the Yankees continued setting the early pace toward their fourth straight pennant by beating the Washington Senators, 7 to 4, Steve Sundra making his mound debut with the champs and scoring the win.

The day's most fruitless effort was turned in by young Ted Williams, the 20-year-old Boston Red Sox outfielder, who belted a terrific line drive home run, a double and two singles only to see the Sox beaten, 12 to 8, by the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Chicago White Sox finally managed to win a game after three straight defeats, and practically went berserk in doing it. They collected 19 hits and swamped the St. Louis Browns, 17 to 4.

The outstanding achievement in the National league was accomplished for the New York Giants by Second Baseman Burgess Whitehead who equalled an old major league record by perfectly handling 11 chances as the local club went to a 4 to 2 victory behind Harry Gumbert against the Boston Bees.

Walters in Form
Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds held the Pittsburgh Pirates to six hits, including a home run with one on by Brubaker, and the Reds scored an easy 7 to 2 victory to remain deadlocked with the Chicago Cubs for the National league lead. The Cubs sent Clay Bryant to the mound and struggled to a 6 to 5 victory over the Cards.

The Philadelphia Phillies beat the Brooklyn Dodgers by 5 to 4 in the 12th inning when Heinie Mueller smashed out a hit with the bases loaded driving home two runners.

Red Birds Club Out Two Edges

COLUMBUS, April 24—The Columbus Red Birds, victors twice over the Milwaukee Brewers by a 4 to 3 score, today hoped for another win which would boost to the same four and three count their wins and losses for the season.

The Birds, who end their current home stand this afternoon, edged out the Brewers twice yesterday before a crowd of 4,000. In the first encounter Columbus counted once in each of the last two innings and in the second game scored the winning run in the last frame.

By the two wins, Columbus advanced to a fifth place tie with three victories against the same number of setbacks.

Minneapolis was the only other Association nine to win both ends of double headers played yesterday. The Millers downed the high-flying Louisville Colonels twice, 7 to 1 and 6 to 4, before 13,925 spectators, the second largest crowd in Parkway field's history.

Belve Bean held the Colonels to six hits in the first game and three hurlers combined their efforts to allow only seven Louisville safeties in the last encounter.

In other double bills, Indianapolis defeated St. Paul, 8 to 2, before taking a 9 to 4 setback. Kansas City walked all over Toledo in the first game at the Maumee City, 13 to 4, but the Mudhens came back to earn a 4 to 3 decision in the final.

National League—New York 4, Boston 2; Philadelphia 5, Brooklyn 4, (12 innings); Cincinnati 7, Pittsburgh 2; Chicago 6, St. Louis 5.

WATT'S SCORES UPSET

AVALON, Cal., April 24—Through an upset finish, Pete Watts of Hollywood today held the Bobby Jones golf trophy and the Santa Catalina tournament championship. Watt's 36-hole total of 126, only two points higher than the record for the annual event, did the trick. When Johnny Dawson of Chicago completed his play Saturday with a 129 tally, he was regarded as the winner.

GALEATO BOOKED

DENVER, April 24—Tony Galeato will box a four round exhibition with Phil Johnson, Negro heavyweight from Culpepper county, Virginia, in Denver May 4. Promoter Jack Kanner announced today.

CLAYPOOL DISCLOSES NUMEROUS BENEFITS TO FARMERS OF DISTRICT

SOLON REPORTS MANY REPAYING RELIEF LOANS

Much Of Money Not Due For Several Years, Member Of Congress Says

331 FAMILIES SURVEYED

Milk Production Improved In Areas Assisted By Administration

Nearly 2,500 farmers in the Eleventh Congressional district have obtained loans from the Farm Security Administration since its inception in 1935. The loans from emergency relief funds have totaled $240,971.90, an average of $99.37 per family.

These figures were announced Monday by Congressman Harold K. Claypool following receipt from Will W. Alexander, administrator of the Farm Security Administration.

The report shows the farmers had repaid $51,757.20 up to Jan. 1, 1939 although much of the money will not be due for four or five years.

The major activity of the administration is the rehabilitation of needy and low-income farm families through small loans, accompanied by guidance in sound farming methods to insure the best possible use of the money. From the beginning of the program in 1935 until Jan. 1, 1939, a total of $232,410,369 had been loaned to approximately 650,000 farm families in the United States. These borrowers already have repaid approximately $72,000,000 into the federal treasury.

Net Worth Increased

A survey covering 331 families in the Eleventh district showed that they had increased their total net worth since coming into the program from $291,541 to $398,800 at the end of the 1938 crop year, over and above all debts.

These families add a total of $107,259 to the wealth of their communities, or an average of $324.04 per family. During the last crop year the families increased their total net worth by $94,400, or an average of $285.19 for each family.

One of the primary aims of the program is to enable borrowers to raise their own food supplies and livestock feed, so they will be less dependent on cash crops. The 331 typical families of the district stored away 135,900 quarts of fruits and vegetables last year for winter use. The average family has increased its annual production of home-canned food by 325 quarts since it first received an F. S. A. loan. The production of meat for home use has risen a total of 111,725 pounds annually, or 338 pounds per family. The average increase in egg production for home consumption was 111 dozen per family.

Milk Production Boosted

Relatively few families owned milk cows when they first sought F. S. A. aid. By the end of the 1938 crop year, the borrowers of the district reported they had increased their milk production by an average of 547 gallons annually, or a total of 181,195 gallons.

This increase in the production of foodstuffs, it was explained, does not mean additional competition with farmers in other areas, since virtually the entire output is consumed at home.

In the district 186 farm families had been helped through debt adjustments up to January, 1939. Their obligations were scaled down from $578,802 to $532,994, a total reduction of $45,808 or 7.9 percent. As a direct result of these adjustments, a total of $4,409 in back taxes was paid to local government agencies.

The Eleventh Congressional district includes Pickaway, Ross, Perry, Fairfield and Hocking counties.

THREE MEN HURT SERIOUSLY WHEN PLANE CRASHES

PALMDALE, Cal., April 24 — Although they managed to escape from the flaming wreckage of an airplane when it crashed, three Los Angeles men were in critical condition in a hospital today from burns.

Charles A. Seley, 34, owner-pilot, said a sudden down draft caused his plane to crash into a hill near Palmdale late yesterday. With him were Edward King, 36, and Joseph C. Redkey, 34. A rancher who witnessed the accident helped extinguish their flaming clothing and drove the victims to a hospital.

None of the other prominently mentioned candidates, Kelly declared, could carry the party to victory.

"The country still is strong for you, Mr. President," Kelly argued. "The people believe in you and they will vote for you. Further, you are the only man who can solidify Democratic strength. None of the others can. If any other man is nominated there will be big splits of support and that will be the end. You are the only one who can win and you've got to run again."

Roosevelt listened to the newly re-elected Midwest boss with keen interest, but made no comment.

REORGANIZATION JITTERS

Government brass hats were in a high state of jitters all last week, but it wasn't for fear of war in Europe. What had the boys talking to themselves was government reorganization.

Word leaked out that the President was working on a drastic reshuffling of bureaus and commissions under the recently enacted law, and that his program would be contained in three executive orders sent to Congress this week for its approval. The reorganization act requires that all changes must be submitted to Congress at least 60 days before adjournment.

Most agitated was RFC Chairman Jesse Jones, because of an inside report that his agency would be put in the Commerce Department under Harry Hopkins. Jesse burned up the wires telephoning pals on Capitol Hill urging them to put the heat on Roosevelt. Friends of Jesse even hinted that if he was subordinated, he would quit.

The President took no chances in getting a favorable start for his reorganizing plans. He called in Senator James Byrnes and Representative Lindsay Warren, the brainy Carolinians who put through the legislation, and asked their advice on how to proceed. They counseled that his first order should have a strong economy complexion, that he disregard, backstage wire-pulling and do some hardballed overhauling.

WALLACE VS. SMITH

Though Henry Wallace and Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith are supposed to be mortal enemies, they shake their fists at each other only for pictures.

Once the two met at the Capitol and cameramen asked them to pose. "We put on a pantomime," says Wallace, "and shook our fingers at one another, and then our fists. The cameramen wanted action, and we tried to oblige."

NOTE—While the Secretary of Agriculture and the South Carolina Senator disagree on farm policy, they enjoy telling stories together.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, youthful horse-racing enthusiast, will be heard between the acts of the Radio Theatre's production, "Broadway Bill," tonight.

Vanderbilt agreed to speak from New York on the program that's broadcast over the Columbia network at 9 p. m., because he feels that "Broadway Bill" is one of the few dramatic scripts that treat his sport in realistic fashion. Each of the climaxes of the plot is actually based on true turf happenings. Vanderbilt's check will be made out directly to the Turf Aid Society, a charitable organization of the tracks.

"Little Acorns" is the title of the Edward G. Robinson "Big Town" dramatization over CBS Tuesday at 8 p. m. The story deals with the appointment of a group of boys to run the city for a day. A gang of young hoodlums terrorize their way to the official positions and instead of sticking to their jobs they resort to bribery and graft. Robinson, in the role of Steve Wilson, dynamic newspaper editor, breaks up the vicious ring with the aid of Claire Trevor playing Lorelei, society reporter. Background music for the production, will be under the baton of Fran Frey.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 24—Egypt today replied to Chancellor Hitler's questionnaire with a broad hint that he might do well to heed the ten-year peace pledge sought by President Roosevelt.

The reply said, however, that Egypt was not informed in advance of President Roosevelt's message.

In addition to Penner, Miss June Travis and a bevy of pretty co-eds, other important players in the cast are Richard Lane, a dim-witted assistant-coach, Ben Alexander, as a rival football hero, Billy Gilbert, as a professor of Greek mythology, Alan Bruce as a football captain, and Jack Carson, as a sports writer whose reportorial tributes to Penner's gridiron talents aid in glorifying him.

Annabella and Power were married by Superior Judge William J. Palmer yesterday at the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Patia Power. It was the first marriage of the actor, who is 24. On the marriage license form Annabella gave her name as Suzanne Georgette Charpentier, her age as 25 and stated she had been married twice previously.

Mrs. Strothers is accused of having shot Spurrier last February while he and five companions attempted to force entrance to the woman's hotel, described as a vice resort.

Shooting at the student touched off a sensational investigation by a special grand jury of alleged vice and gambling conditions in the vicinity of the university. The jury indicted 50 persons, including Mayor James Flynn, Police Chief Roy Argo, State's Attorney Fred B. Hamill and other city officials. All were charged with malfeasance. In addition scores of men and women were named in connection with alleged operation of disorderly and gambling houses.

Speaking before the annual American Jewish congress in Chicago Sunday, Senator King declared that if such a severance of relations is not undertaken promptly, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and his allies will feel free to move on the Latin American nations and eventually on the United States. He added: "America has ample precedent for such a step. It stopped Spanish persecution in Cuba. # CLAYPOOL DISCLOSES NUMEROUS BENEFITS TO FARMERS OF DISTRICT

Much Of Money Not Due For Several Years, Member Of Congress Says

331 FAMILIES SURVEYED

Milk Production Improved In Areas Assisted By Administration

Nearly 2,500 farmers in the Eleventh Congressional district have obtained loans from the Farm Security Administration since its inception in 1935. The loans from emergency relief funds have totalled $240,971.90, an average of $99.37 per family.

These figures were announced Monday by Congressman Harold K. Claypool following receipt from Will W. Alexander, administrator of the Farm Security Administration.

The report shows the farmers had repaid $51,757.20 up to Jan. 1, 1939 although much of the money will not be due for four or five years.

The major activity of the administration is the rehabilitation of needy and low-income farm families through small loans, accompanied by guidance in sound farming methods to insure the best possible use of the money. From the beginning of the program in 1935 until Jan. 1, 1939, a total of $232,410,369 had been loaned to approximately 650,000 farm families in the United States. These borrowers already have repaid approximately $72,000,000 into the federal treasury.

Net Worth Increased

A survey covering 331 families in the Eleventh district showed that they had increased their total net worth since coming into the program from $291,541 to $398,800 at the end of the 1938 crop year, over and above all debts.

These families add a total of $107,259 to the wealth of their communities, or an average of $324.04 per family. During the last crop year the families increased their total net worth by $94,400, or an average of $285.19 for each family.

One of the primary aims of the program is to enable borrowers to raise their own food supplies and livestock feed, so they will be less dependent on cash crops. The 331 typical families of the district stored away 135,900 quarts of fruits and vegetables last year for winter use. The average family has increased its annual production of home-canned food by 325 quarts since it first received an F. S. A. loan. The production of meat for home use has risen a total of 111,725 pounds annually, or 338 pounds per family. The average increase in egg production for home consumption was 111 dozen per family.

Milk Production Boosted

Relatively few families owned milk cows when they first sought F. S. A. aid. By the end of the 1938 crop year, the borrowers of the district reported they had increased their milk production by an average of 547 gallons annually, or a total of 181,195 gallons.

This increase in the production of foodstuffs, it was explained, does not mean additional competition with farmers in other areas, since virtually the entire output is consumed at home.

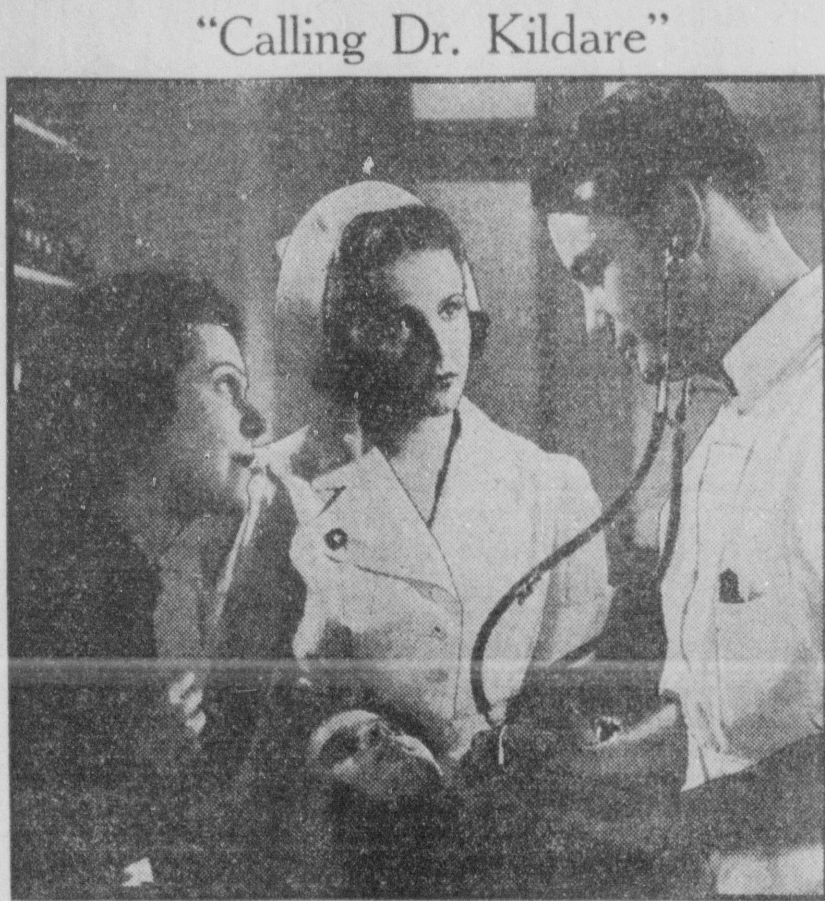

In the district 186 farm families had been helped through debt adjustments up to January, 1939. Their obligations were scaled down from $578,802 to $532,994, a total reduction of $45,808 or 7.9 percent. As a direct result of these adjustments, a total of $4,409 in back taxes was paid to local government agencies.

The Eleventh Congressional district includes Pickaway, Ross, Perry, Fairfield and Hocking counties.

Met a "G-man" here Saturday while making our rounds. His badge was plainly visible and of course he got "the third" same as we give all the strangers who happen along our path. Said he was at home in Columbus and here on a "line of business" he did not care to divulge at this time. Looked to us like a carpenter's badge, with its square and compass and "G" for gimlet, as we suppose it meant, but he said we had another guess coming as the "G" was for "goat" and said they had a whole herd of 'em up at Worthington and invited us to come up and see the bunch sometime.

Many of his friends here are much pleased to know that Bob Morrison, son of B. C. and Mrs. Morrison here, is filling a responsible and technical place with the broadcasting Columbus station WBSN.

Bill Toole with his electrical supply store and shop is removing from his present location on Main street to a fitted room on Long street opposite the Postoffice.

Clyde and Mrs. Brinker celebrated in a quiet way their 25th Wedding anniversary Saturday. And besides this, disposed of three sets of auto license plates. Several sets have been sold in the past week or ten days.

William Abbott our long time gardener and who has been in a Columbus hospital for several weeks, does not make much improvement. He is anxious to get home soon and to his garden.

ditties for the occasion and, as usual, will have the support of Martha Raye, Parkyakarkus and Lud Gluskin's orchestra.

THEATRES

VIRGINIA RENDEL, above, is one of the stars of "Hollywood Star Doubles", appearing Wednesday at the Grand theatre. Miss Rendel doubles for Mae West.

At the Circle
Riotous with comedy, gay romance and tuncful songs, "Mr. Doodle Kicks Off" at the Circle theatre today bids fair to be Joe Penner's funniest starring vehicle.

The comedian is cast as a campus band-leader who struggles against a plot to make him a football hero. A wager between his wealthy father and a rival business man concerning the relative athletic abilities of their respective sons causes Penner's father to offer the president of the boy's alma mater a big endowment should he succeed in making a pigskin celebrity of the young man.

In addition to Penner, Miss June Travis and a bevy of pretty co-eds, other important players in the cast are Richard Lane, as a dim-witted assistant-coach, Ben Alexander, as a rival football hero, Billy Gilbert, as a professor of Greek mythology, Alan Bruce as a football captain, and Jack Carson, as a sports writer whose reportorial tributes to Penner's grid-iron talents aid in glorifying him.

POWER, FRENCH BRIDE TO DELAY HONEYMOON TRIP

HOLLYWOOD, April 24 — No honeymoon is in sight for some time, Tyrone Power and Annabella, pert French actress, ruefully admitted today.

Back at work before the camera, the handsome movie star said that because of studio demands they would have to postpone their expected honeymoon to Australia indefinitely. However, within the near future they hope to motor to the Grand Canyon and Boulder Dam.

Annabella and Power were married by Superior Judge William J. Palmer yesterday at the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Patia Power. It was the first marriage of the actor, who is 24. On the marriage license form Annabella gave her name as Suzanne Georgette Charpentier, her age as 25 and stated she had been married twice previously.

NEGRESS GOES ON TRIAL AFTER YOUTH'S DEATH

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., April 24—A venire of 100 prospective jurors was on hand today for the opening of the trial of Mrs. Margaret Strothers, Negress, for the murder of William Spurrier, 19-year-old sophomore student at the University of Illinois.

Mrs. Strothers is accused of having shot Spurrier last February while he and five companions attempted to force entrance to the woman's hotel, described as a vice resort.

Shooting at the student touched off a sensational investigation by a special grand jury of alleged vice and gambling conditions in the vicinity of the university. The jury indicted 50 persons, including Mayor James Flynn, Police Chief Roy Argo, State's Attorney Fred B. Hamill and other city officials. All were charged with malfeasance. In addition scores of men and women were named in connection with alleged operation of disorderly and gambling houses.

SEN. KING SAYS U. S. COULD END NAZI RELATIONS

CHICAGO, April 24 — U. S. Senator William H. King of Utah believes there is justification for a severance by the United States of diplomatic and trade relations with Germany.

Speaking before the annual American Jewish congress in Chicago Sunday, Senator King declared that if such a severance of relations is not undertaken promptly, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and his allies will feel free to move on the Latin American nations and eventually on the United States. He added:

"America has ample precedent for such a step. It stopped Spanish persecution in Cuba. It wrote the Monroe Doctrine into the records to safeguard its own security when European nations threatened the republics of the Western Hemisphere."
